

My impressions of the November "Show & Tell"

Members continued learning, pushing limits, experimenting with materials, and finding solace in their creativity no matter what losses or hardships they endured. Age didn't hold them back and they collaborated on joint projects and supported others.

They worried about social justice and our planet.

I didn't include any names, because we are all in this wonderful world together.

Happy New Year!